ADMINISTRATION

Agency Mission

The mission of the Department of Banking is to protect users of financial services from unlawful or improper practices by requiring that regulated entities and individuals adhere to the law, assuring the safety and soundness of state chartered banks and credit unions, educating and communicating with the public and other stakeholders, and promoting cost-efficient and effective regulation.

Organization

The Department of Banking is a state agency headed by the Banking Commissioner who reports to the Governor. The Department regulates and examines financial institutions and various related entities that are chartered, licensed or registered by the state; the Banking Commissioner administers state banking and credit union laws, securities laws, consumer credit laws, and a major portion of the law concerning rental security deposits.

The agency is divided into three line divisions responsible for specific types of financial institutions or types of transactions, as well as other divisions that support the department functions.

The Consumer Credit Division licenses and regulates mortgage brokers, lenders, originators and loan processors/underwriters; consumer collection agencies; debt adjusters; debt negotiators; sales finance companies; small loan companies; check cashing services and money transmitters.

The Financial Institutions Division regulates state-chartered bank and trust companies, credit unions, savings banks and savings and loan associations. It also supervises foreign bank agencies, branches and representative offices; licenses certain entities; and reviews applications for new banks and credit unions, mergers, branches, field of membership expansions and other matters.

The Securities and Business Investments Division is responsible for the registration of securities and business opportunity offerings for sale in Connecticut; the registration of broker-dealers and investment advisers, along with their agents and branch offices; the examination of broker-dealer, investment adviser and branch office registrants; and the enforcement of the state's securities and business opportunity laws.

The Government Relations and Consumer Affairs Division assists consumers with issues involving banks, credit unions, mortgage lending and other consumer credit matters, securities and business opportunity investments, and oversees the administration of the rental security deposit laws. The division also directs the agency's legislative program, manages media relations, coordinates financial and investor education outreach efforts and handles calls to the Foreclosure Assistance Hotline.

There are three support divisions at the Department of Banking: the Business Office, which is responsible for the accounting, budgeting, fiscal, payroll, purchasing and financial reporting functions; Human Resources, which addresses day-to-day employee issues and prepares the agency's affirmative action plan; and the MIS unit that provides information technology and office automation support.

As of December 31, 2013, there were 110 full-time permanent employees.

Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action

The Department of Banking renews its longstanding commitment to providing equal employment opportunity on the basis of merit, assuring nondiscrimination, and implementing affirmative action and contract compliance programs, as required by law. The department's affirmative action plan, filed with the Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities, reflects the agency's commitment to achieving workforce balance and fairness in all terms and conditions of employment.

CONSUMER CREDIT DIVISION

Subject to the general supervision of the Banking Commissioner, the Consumer Credit Division is charged with administering Chapter 668 of the Connecticut General Statutes, Nondepository Financial Institutions, and Chapter 669 of the Connecticut General Statutes, Regulated Activities.

The Division is responsible for the licensing and examination of the following nondepository financial institutions: mortgage lenders, brokers and originators; loan processors and underwriters; sales finance companies; small loan lenders; check cashing services; payment instrument providers; money transmitters; debt adjusters; debt negotiators; and consumer collection agencies. The Division is also responsible for the enforcement of the state's banking laws related to these entities and for regulating certain activities regarding collection practices of creditors; interest and finance charge rebates; consumer credit reporting; mortgage processing; mortgage servicing; mortgage insurance; Connecticut abusive home loan lending practices; other mortgage and loan practices; retail installment sales financing; and the Truth-in-Lending Act.

Activities

During 2013, the Consumer Credit Division began monitoring compliance with the filing requirements for the mortgage industry on the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry (NMLS). As a result, over 47 administrative actions were issued against licensees for their failure to file timely and accurate reports. After recent years of decline, due in part to the changes required by the Secure and Fair Enforcement for Mortgage Licensing Act of 2008 ("S.A.F.E. Act"), it appears that mortgage loan originators are returning to our state with licensees currently standing at 6,059. This number reflects an increase of almost one thousand more mortgage loan originators than in 2012. We have also seen an increase in licensing applications for Loan Processor/Underwriters which currently stand at 52. This number reflects a significant increase over last year which saw the issuance of just 8 licenses.

The Division remained focused on the debt negotiation industry, with the investigation of 108 entities. In addition to being unlicensed, a number of these companies charged consumers excessive fees with promises of debt settlement, loan modifications or the halting of foreclosure proceedings. Due to a number of complaints received involving law firms, most if not all of which were located outside of Connecticut, the Division continued to work closely with the Office of Chief Disciplinary Counsel and the Office of the Attorney General. The vast majority of these cases resulted in the issuance of administrative orders for the repayment of fees. A total of $134,406 was collected and returned to our residents. For all other entities and/or individuals subject to the Division's jurisdiction, the staff investigated approximately 160 cases, resulting in $446,224 being refunded to consumers.

The Division conducted just under 100 examinations, with more than half of those examined holding a consumer collection agency license. A total of 263 administrative actions were issued across all license types, resulting in the imposition and collection of $731,400 in civil penalties. In addition, consumers received refunds in the amount of $4,503,060, as a result of the examination findings of improper conduct and/or calculations with the largest rebate issued by a single consumer collection agency in the amount of $4.3 million.

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS DIVISION

The Financial Institutions Division ("Division") is responsible for the supervision and regulation of Connecticut-chartered commercial banks, savings banks, savings and loan associations, limited-purpose trust companies and credit unions. The Division also regulates one Connecticut-chartered bankers' bank, as well as one uninsured bank which does not accept retail deposits. In addition, the Division supervises the activities of state-licensed foreign banking organizations with branches, agencies, and representative offices located in Connecticut.

Through a combination of continuous off-site reviews and periodic on-site examinations, the Division monitors these institutions for compliance with Connecticut banking law, as well as applicable rules and regulations of the institutions' respective federal regulators. The Division, in conjunction with federal regulatory agencies, conducts examinations of one bankers' bank and several information technology service providers whose services substantially impact the operations of Connecticut banks and credit unions. The Division reviews and processes applications for new banks and credit unions, branches, acquisitions, mergers and consolidations, bank holding company formations, and requests for credit union field of membership expansions. The Division also licenses business and industrial development corporations and certain non-banking corporations exercising fiduciary powers in the State.

Any person licensed by the SBA as a small business investment company or a small business lending company, banks or credit unions, and any person not approved or not seeking approval by the SBA as a participating lender under one or more of its loan guarantee programs is exempt from the provisions of the Connecticut Business and Industrial Development Corporation Act.

SECURITIES AND BUSINESS INVESTMENTS DIVISION

Subject to the general supervision of the Banking Commissioner, the Securities and Business Investments Division is charged with administering Chapter 672a of the Connecticut General Statutes, the Connecticut Uniform Securities Act; Chapter 672c of the Connecticut General Statutes, the Connecticut Business Opportunity Investment Act; and Chapter 672b of the Connecticut General Statutes, the Connecticut Tender Offer Act.

The Division is responsible for 1) the registration of securities and business opportunity offerings for sale in Connecticut; 2) the registration of broker-dealers, agents, investment advisers and investment adviser agents as well as the registration of broker-dealer and investment adviser branch offices; 3) the examination of broker-dealer, investment adviser and branch office registrants; and 4) enforcement of the state's securities, business opportunity and tender offer laws.

Activities

During 2013, the Division initiated a comprehensive review of the Regulations promulgated under the Connecticut Uniform Securities Act to ensure that they were up to date and reflective of legislative changes occurring since the Regulations were last amended. Preliminary draft amendments were circulated internally and to members of the Commissioner's Securities Advisory Council (which consists of members of the bar, academia and the securities industry) for feedback and discussion before the formal Uniform Administrative Procedure Act amendment process began. In the fall of 2013, the Division publicized the project on the agency's website and invited other members of the Connecticut bar to add their recommendations for change, drawing on their specialized expertise in the area of securities law.

The Division also continued to monitor the progress of the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act (the "JOBS Act") and other federal legislation enacted to foster capital formation, as well as federal regulation amendments impacting private offerings. Although the JOBS Act preempted state regulation of crowdfunding, the Division joined other states in voicing concerns over a possible increase in fraud if the provisions were not carefully implemented.

During calendar year 2013, Securities and Business Investments Division intervention resulted in restitution and rescission offers to the investing public totaling $5,559,747. In addition, the Division imposed $3,756,166 in fines for violations of the state's securities and business opportunity laws. Of this amount, $241,166 was attributable to Division settlements, $200,000 was attributable to court-ordered penalties and the balance was due to formal agency orders imposing fines.

The Division also pursued a greater number of enforcement cases featuring promises of exorbitant investment returns and the misappropriation of investor funds. The Division also settled several matters involving licensing, securities registration and supervisory lapses by brokerage firms and investment advisers.

The Division continued to face special challenges stemming from staff attrition; the need to reallocate staff based on an increased investment adviser regulation workload following passage of the Title IV of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act; and an increase in the number of cases involving complex fact patterns or securities fraud.

In conjunction with the Division's enforcement program, a total of 69 securities and business opportunity investigations were opened in 2013, 78 investigations were closed and 77 investigations were in progress as of December 31, 2013. Eleven Cease and Desist Orders were entered.

Forty-one formal enforcement proceedings were initiated at the administrative level during calendar year 2013.

Of all the securities and business opportunity-related complaints and investigations handled, many were resolved at the administrative level prior to being closed. Administrative resolutions of enforcement matters typically took the form of remedial Stipulation and Agreements and Consent Orders wherein the Division sought corrective measures as well as monetary fines. Thirteen Consent Orders and two Stipulation and Agreements were executed in calendar year 2013. Five matters involved activity restrictions or the barring of affected individuals from securities-related activity in Connecticut. The Division found the use of Stipulation and Agreements and Consent Orders to be an effective supplement to its array of enforcement tools.

The Securities and Business Investments Division also continued online publication of its quarterly Securities Bulletin, now delivered via listserv, to advise the industry of new regulatory developments.

The Division is assisted by a Securities Advisory Council, comprised of industry representatives, academics and members of the bar, all of whom serve without compensation, that offers the Commissioner and staff insight on proposed regulatory initiatives. The Division obtained critical input from Advisory Council members in formulating the Division's response to federal legislative changes and the need to update the agency's securities regulations.

GOVERNMENT RELATIONS AND CONSUMER AFFAIRS

The Government Relations and Consumer Affairs Division ("Division") provides assistance to the public with inquiries and complaints regarding banking, mortgage lending and other consumer credit matters, rental security deposits, and securities and business opportunity issues. The Division directs the agency's legislative program, manages media relations, and coordinates financial and investor education. It also performs community outreach efforts.

Consumer Assistance

The department protects Connecticut citizens and consumers in transactions with financial institutions and other financial service providers, and assists them with complaints and dispute resolution. In 2013, examiners in the Division handled approximately 11,436 telephone inquiries and 2,346 written complaints from the public. As a result of their efforts, the department obtained $1,344,536.62 in adjustments or reimbursements on behalf of consumers during the period. In addition, the Division handled 3,426 calls to its Foreclosure Assistance Hotline in 2013 and responded to 1,181 email inquiries. The received approximately 217 complaints related to rental security deposits. Following an investigation into each complaint, the Department recovered $35,777.55 for tenants during this same time period.

Outreach

The primary focus of the Department's educational outreach program is to help Connecticut's consumers and investors make informed financial decisions and also to learn how to avoid fraud and scams. Helping Connecticut homeowners prevent and navigate foreclosure remains a major component of the department's outreach initiatives.

In 2013, Division staff took part in approximately 70 events, including 45 speaking engagements. Consumers received relevant information and training regarding credit and debt management, avoidance of fraud and identity theft, reverse mortgages, banking basics, and personal financial management such as individual and family budgeting. The Division participated in monthly foreclosure prevention clinics during the year, conducting presentations and providing one-on-one counseling to homeowners.

In 2013 the Department continued its successful Mortgage Assistance Event Program which began in 2011. The Department sponsored two additional events together with the Governor and Attorney General. These events provide a unique opportunity for troubled borrowers to meet directly with their mortgage company or a housing counselor to discuss options and explore appropriate workout solutions. The 2013 conferences were held on April 17, in New Haven, and on October 22, in Hartford. Approximately 1,700 people attended these events which, as of December 31, 2013, brings to the total number of borrowers assisted to approximately 6,000.

In February, 2013 the Department hosted an America Saves/Military Saves Week Expo at the Legislative Office Building and recruited 11 other entities to participate in this important program. The general public, legislative staff, and military personnel learned about smart saving, investing, and new ways to protect their finances.

In the first half of 2013, the Department purchased an innovative online financial education initiative called Investor Education in Your Workplace® (IEiYW), an online training program which focuses on personal finances, investing and retirement planning. What makes this program unique is that an employee can complete the training in the workplace with minimal disruption on the work day. The Department made IEiYW available to employees at the Insurance Department as well as to local banks, credit unions, and businesses. In total, 617 people participated and were educated about retirement plans, long-term savings and investment options.

The Department of Banking joined in several important collaborations to promote financial literacy and fraud prevention throughout 2013. The Banking Education Coordinator was invited to serve on the Board of Directors of Connecticut Jump$tart Coalition for Financial Literacy, an organization that seeks to improve financial literacy of Connecticut residents by promoting the teaching of personal finance and the increased understanding of saving, investing, and credit choices. The Department joined Connecticut Saves, (a social marketing initiative promoting saving and wealth building) as a founding member. The Department of Banking joined the Connecticut Elder Justice Coalition, a network of public and private agencies whose goal is to protect the rights of older persons and combat elder fraud and abuse. The Department is also an active member of the statewide Coordinating Council, to help develop potential solutions to elder justice issues.

Legislation

Each year the Government Relations and Consumer Affairs Division, spearheads an active legislative program. During the 2013 legislative session, three agency proposals were enacted into law. Public Act 13-106, An Act Concerning the Connecticut Uniform Securities Act, updates Connecticut statutes related to the Uniform Securities Act.

Public Act 13-135, An Act Concerning Banks and the Economic Development of Loan Production Offices began as an agency proposal that became a vehicle for a number of other bills. The agency proposal portion of the act amends the public deposit laws based on the recommendations of a task force composed of the Connecticut Bankers Association, the Connecticut Credit Union League, the Office of the State Treasurer, the Office of Policy and Management and other interested parties. The legislation will afford greater security to state and municipal deposits.

In addition, Public Act 13-135 requires the party to whom a municipality has assigned a tax lien, or any subsequent assignee, to provide written notice to the mortgage holder within 30 days after the assignment; establishes conditions under which Connecticut banks may invest in certain debt securities; makes changes in the exchange facilitator laws and allows the banking commissioner to adopt implementing regulations; and decreases the time within which an appraisal management company must pay an appraiser for an appraisal or valuation assignment.

Public Act 13-253, An Act Concerning Money Transmission and Consumer Collection Agencies makes numerous changes to the consumer credit statutes in an effort to better protect the consumer. Most notably, it strengthens regulatory requirements of money transmission licensees and makes other conforming changes consistent with industry standards.

The Department of Banking actively supported the passage of Public Act 13-136, a Governor's bill that revised and restructured Connecticut's Foreclosure Mediation Programs to achieve faster and better resolutions of foreclosures in this state.
